

The Commitment of the RWE Foundation

Dr. Stephan Muschick, Managing Director of the RWE Foundation:

“RWE has been a partner of the Museum Folkwang for many years, sponsoring a number of exhibitions by famous photographers such as Diane Arbus and Paul Graham. We hold the museum in high esteem and are delighted that the work of Florian Ebner has gained international acknowledgement in this way. The RWE Foundation has spoken out in favour of this joint initiative from the very beginning, with the emphasis on objective interests. A great deal of dedication and positive energy has already been invested in this project.”

Projects packed full of energy

From energy academies to the European Parliament. From light art to solar-powered sound installations. The projects supported by the RWE Foundation are wide-ranging, but they all revolve around the theme of “energy”. A selection of art promotion projects in 2015:

- Announcement and conferral of the first International Light Art Award
- Promotion of young artists through VISIT, our own scholarship programme
- Sponsorship of the accompanying programme DYNAMO at the ZERO retrospective, Martin-Gropius-Bau Berlin, from 20 March 2015

About the Foundation

The RWE Stiftung für Energie und Gesellschaft gGmbH bundles the non-profit commitment of RWE. Project funding is centred on the theme of energy and its social relevance. Our aim is to deepen the understanding of this theme throughout society as a whole. For energy is not only a scientific/technical phenomenon. It also has social, economic and ecological dimensions. The RWE Foundation emerged from the RWE Youth Foundation in 2009 and has an equity capital base of more than 60 million euro.
